Strides/Castro Valley Adult and Career Education

Castro Valley Adult and Career Education's mission is to strengthen our communities by educating and preparing adults to train for new careers, continue their education, and pursue lifelong learning in a safe, supportive environment.

Our mission is to provide high-quality education, training, and support that prepares and empowers adults with developmental disabilities to achieve their individual goals toward independence, personal fulfillment, work readiness, and employment. The program embraces that adults have a right to an age-appropriate education, independence, community inclusion, respect, and personal choice.

Classes focus on functional academics (basic math, reading, writing, money and time concepts), community independence (use of public transportation, street safety, shopping skills, etc.), independent living skills, communication skills (including conflict resolution, friendships, and relationships), work readiness (volunteer work experience, job training, career exploration, work goals), basic computer literacy, health for everyday living, and leisure time skills.

Each year, students choose classes within the program according to their goals and preferences. Classes are held at the adult school (integrated with classes for non-disabled persons) and in natural environments whenever possible (e.g., working and volunteering in the community, traveling on public transportation, food service training in a professional kitchen, etc.), all utilizing age-appropriate materials.
